LONDON COLLEGE OF BIBLE AND MISSIONS

LONDON ONTARIO CANADA

EDITORIAL

The mottos of the incoming classes for the past four years have each expressed a theme which will be theirs until they graduate.

This year the motto of the freshman class was "Looking unto Jesus." This aptly describes the position of a Christian - looking to Jesus as the author and finisher of his faith.

Often, however, one is required to "Wait on the Lord" while looking to Him for His guidance. In this attitude one is likely to hear Him say, "Follow thou me," and one's immediate response should be, "Lord, teach me thy way."

God's Word is His blueprint for our lives. We are here to study it, obey it, and in so doing to acknowledge Him as our All in All.

DEDICATION

"A visible illustration of a lesson to be learned is of more effect than mere vanishing words."

Mr. Bell, our Director of Christian Education, is a living illustration of the principles of life he seeks to teach us. But he is more than our teacher; he is our friend.

By a battle over the ping pong table, a buzz session over a cup of coffee or by arriving at 7:15 a.m. to share an early morning breakfast, Mr. Bell gets to know us out of the classroom. His outgoing personality attracts students to him for counselling concerning spiritual and personal problems. His sense of humour, too, is a great asset, for you can always count on him to see the funny side of things.

But above all these characteristics, the trait that draws us to him more than any other and makes him an effective counsellor, is his great love for the Lord. This is evidenced in his depth of spiritual understanding and his desire to serve Him in every area of life.

To the general public, Mr. Bell is the Professor of Christian Education, but to us he is more; he is our friend and counsellor.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dear Graduates of 'Sixty-five,

You have come to the end of a trail. When first you hit this trail, it looked like a long one, and at times it has seemed interminable. There have been rough spots, and steep places. You have once in awhile felt very sorry for yourselves, and, believe it or not, we have sometimes felt a bit sorry for you too! Now all that is over. You have reached the end. The sense of accomplishment has well-nigh obliterated remembrance of the struggle. We join with you in giving thanks to God for His grace bestowed upon you in enabling you to finish the course.

But at trail's end a new trail opens before you, both inviting and menacing. As we see it from here, it is longer than the one just completed, leading to greater heights and loftier attainment, and at the same time hiding more dangers and concealing more formidable difficulties than you have yet known. You will need "grace for grace," and God has it all ready for you at every point of need. Step out boldly, not in any confidence in the flesh, but in full reliance on His gracious Holy Spirit, till the trails of earth end in the gathering of the saints to the meeting in the air.

The last stanza of our school hymn runs -

"Here in these halls of learning and devotion,
Let mind and heart be taught Thy holy will."

I trust that this prayer has had abundant answer. Now we look for the answer to the petition of the final lines -

"Then lead us forth, amid this world's commotion,
Our high and sacred calling to fulfill."

In the bonds of Christ,

J. C. Macaulay

STUDENTS' COUNCIL

President:
Michael Timgren

This year at London College of Bible and Missions has contributed another chapter to the book of our lives. As we look back, we can see that each page and chapter has left an impression of Christ upon us. The imprint that the council is seeking to scribe on your heart is "wholeheartedness." The life of Hezekiah, as recorded in I Chronicles 31:21, vividly conveys to us this Godly enthusiasm.

"And in every work that he began in the service of the house of God, and in the law and the commandments, to seek his God, he did it with all his heart and prospered."

May we as students at LCBM learn early in life to serve Him diligently with spirit-directed enthusiasm that we may find written in our epilogue, "Well done thou good and faithful servant."

ACTIVITY SECTION

The purpose of the Student Judiciary has been defined as follows:

1. To aid students in the development of self discipline by encouraging them to become responsible for their own actions and to realize the effect of their actions on others.
2. To remind offenders that their actions have spiritual implications.
3. To try those who are accused of rule infractions.
4. To assign and execute appropriate penalties to those found guilty.

STUDENT MISSIONS FELLOWSHIP

President:
Frazer McKenzie

Many times the question has been asked, "What is Student Missions Fellowship?" The answer to this question is clearly contained within the name of the organization itself. First, S. M. F. is a student organization, an organization operated by the students for the benefit of the students.

Our purpose is to promote missions among the members of the student body. Our desire is that through the S. M. F. program interest in both home and foreign missions might be increased. Interest is created by interaction between students and missionaries.

The S. M. F. program is full of opportunities for each student. Opportunities to hear missionary speakers in chapel sessions and at the Missionary Conference, opportunities to pray for graduates in missionary activity, opportunities to give to an annual missionary project are all part of S. M. F.

I trust that we as students will take advantage of these opportunities given to us through S. M. F. and that some day we will be able also to present to students at LCBM some of the needs and challenges on our field of service for Him.

BRANDT LECTURES

Our Fall Lecture Series this year was led by Dr. Henry Brandt, a Christian psychologist from Detroit. Dr. Brandt has his own counselling clinic and is a consultant to several mission boards. With this up-to-date experience and background of dealing with people and their problems, Dr. Brandt challenged us to "know ourselves." We were led to understand the importance of correlating our actions and speech with the real feeling of our hearts instead of inwardly fighting against ourselves. However, if our hearts are to dictate our actions, the heart must be clean and pure before God.

Dr. Brandt as a Christian psychologist looks at psychology from a biased point of view, through the Word of God. Knowing the Creator is the only way to truly comprehend the Creature.

Dr. Brandt chats with Alumnus
Bill Stanley from Toronto.
